

Located in Detroit's Historic Eastern Market, Wolverine Packing Co. was established in 1937 as a small family-owned and operated lamb and veal packer. Since then, Wolverine Packing has grown into a full-faceted protein company with the reputation as a stable, growing, and fair company to do business with.

Today, Wolverine continues to grow with more than 500 employees in multiple plants. On a weekly basis, we deliver over one million pounds of boxed beef, pork, chicken, and seafood around the country, and produce more than one million pounds of ground beef items, steak cuts, value-added products, and still to this day – fresh lamb and veal; and we are looking for people to grow with us!

Our company operates on the basic premise that the two most important things in any business are its customers and its employees. Without either one, we as a company would not exist. With this in mind, we take excellent care of our customers and the employees who contribute to our success and growth.
